WORLD LANGUAGES AND CULTURES

Programs in World Languages

Students can major in Italian and Spanish. Students learn to read and write, speak and listen; they also are introduced to how the language works and functions linguistically. Study also includes an introduction to the literatures and cultures of Italian- and Spanish-speaking peoples and regions.

Specifically, students will develop a cultural understanding and appreciation of the history and of those areas in which the target language is (or was) spoken. Spanish and Italian majors will be able to read and understand a variety of materials written in the target language. They will be able to understand the target language when spoken in a variety of contexts. In addition, majors will be able to carry on a conversation, deliver a speech, and compose in the target language.

Minors are also achievable in Spanish and Italian as well as in French. Coursework is also offered in American Sign Language, Arabic, Chinese, German, Latin, and Ancient Greek. Students who wish to meet their General Education Requirement in Foreign Language may do so in any of those languages.

Learning Outcomes

The learning outcomes for all modern language courses, the level of expectation depending on the level of the course, are as follows:

- Cultural Understanding: The student will develop an understanding and appreciation of the history and culture of those areas in which the target language is (or was) spoken.
- Reading Comprehension: The student will be able to read and understand a variety of materials written in the target language. These materials may include but are not limited to: novels, plays, poetry, newspaper and magazine articles, and private correspondence (e.g., business communications).
- Listening Comprehension: The student will be able to understand the target language when spoken in a variety of contexts. These contexts may include but are not limited to: formal and casual correspondence, essays and magazine articles, and private correspondence (e.g., business communications).
- Oral Expression: The student will be able to carry on a conversation and deliver a speech in the target language.
- Written Expression: The student will be able to compose in the target language a variety of written documents. These documents may include but are not limited to: formal and casual correspondence, essays and creative works.
